Acknowledgements
Written by Helen Penny, IFR’s Science Communication Officer with contributions from Mary Parker and Paul Gunning, scientists at IFR and Gareth Catchpole, Ph.D Student at IFR.

The Institute of Food Research is the UK’s only integrated basic science provider focused on food. This resource makes up part of IFR’s commitment to delivering its science through various community and educational projects.

This resource is sponsored by the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council (BBSRC) which is a leading UK funding agency for research in the biosciences. BBSRC produces a range of material in support of science education. Resources can be downloaded from the website or ordered from the BBSRC Schools Science Club (details on the website).

Feedback and further copies,
It would be helpful to have your feedback on this resource for when we design future activities. Please tick relevant options.

Did you find the resource...
- Very Helpful
- Helpful
- Quite Helpful
- Not helpful at all

Did you think the resource was curriculum relevant...
- Very Relevant
- Relevant
- Quite relevant
- Not Relevant at all

Do you have any comments about how the resource may be improved in the future?

Did you use these as part of:
- A lesson
- After school club
- Course work
- Other
- Please specify

Please tick box if you would like another copy of this resource

Please tick box if you would like free membership of BBSRC School’s Club

Name...

School Address...

Postcode...